Arizona State University

2023-2024 Wells Fargo Transborder Chicana/o and Latina/o Studies Research Scholarship
Application deadline: 5pm Monday, April 3, 2023

We are pleased to announce a scholarship opportunity for ASU junior and senior undergraduate students interested in engaging in transborder and transnational Latina/o and Chicana/o research. This scholarship is intended to cover costs associated with academic research/creative projects proposed; approximately three to six $2,500 scholarships will be awarded for 2023-24 academic year (half awarded in fall, half in spring). Students must work under the supervision of an STS faculty or affiliated faculty.

Recipients will be required to enroll in TCL 499 Individualized Instruction for a total of 3 credit hours with their faculty mentor; 1 credit in the fall semester and 2 credits in the spring semester, session C. Depending on the nature of the project, the following is required:

- For a research project: a research paper and an academic research poster will be the final product of the course; students are required to submit an electronic and printed version of each. Rubric and criteria for the academic poster will be provided.
- For a creative project: depending on the project, a paper may be required as well as a final production of the project (i.e. short documentary, performance, etc.)

Application Procedures (Please submit in this order by the deadline for consideration, no exceptions):

- Complete general application form
 1. General application information and signature
 2. Prospectus
- Copy of your most recent unofficial or official transcript (including grades from your most recently completed semester and cumulative GPA)
